

Olu Sonola is the Group Credit Officer for the U.S. Public Finance Group at Fitch Ratings. He is responsible for improving the consistency and quality of Fitch's credit ratings, analysis and methodologies.

Prior to Olu's role as a Group Credit Officer, he was Head of Research of the U.S. Public Finance and the Global Infrastructure & Project Finance Groups at Fitch Ratings. He was also Head of Accounting Research in the Credit Policy Group at Fitch.

Prior to joining Fitch in 2006, Olu was a CPA with PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC) and KPMG, where he was responsible for planning, executing, and supervising audit engagements. He began his career as a commercial credit analyst.

Olu is currently an adjunct assistant professor of public service at New York University's Robert F. Wagner Graduate School of Public Service. His research and teaching interests lie in the areas of public finance, budgeting and economics.

Olu earned a bachelor's degree in economics from Lagos State University, a master's degree in public administration from Columbia University and a doctoral degree from Rutgers University. Olu holds the Chartered Financial Analyst designation.